Katherine McConvey

Chairman, Founder

As a founding member of Alloy and an industry leader for over 20 years, Katherine brings sophisticated business acumen and financial strength to Alloy. Katherine's privately-held, core business, KMM, was founded in 1991 to address the telecommunications industry's rapidly-changing supply chain requirements and is currently the largest independent reseller of cable and wire in the country, with revenues in excess of $1 billion. Katherine's tenacity and perspective has enabled Alloy to build a versatile financial and management infrastructure and an overall economic foundation with a focus on long-term stability and resiliency.
